Mafia Boss Lines

"You have a new mission, Jesse. Your target: the gas station on 34th Street. This place is rumored to be loaded, so you better bring home the dough tonight. You have 3 hours before someone is bound to call the authorities. Good luck." (opening ramble)

"You better complete the mission, or you won't get then money for your kid's higher education."

"Halfway through the list... keep it going."

"You're halfway through the time Jesse. You better be loaded when you get back!"

"2 minutes left... are you sure you care about your family, Jesse?"

"Alright, that's enough. You're bound to be discovered, so get outta there and head for the drop off point." (time runs out)

"Damn, done already? Well, head to the exit so you can make it to the drop off point in one piece." (completing the list before time runs out)

"Well damn, Jesse. You did some nice work. While most of the stuff you brought is... questionable, there are some items of real value in here. Your pay will be wired shortly. Be on standby for your next assignment." (win!)

"Jesse... I don't know how to put this, but what the hell did you bring back to us? The family can't make heads or tails of it. Please report to the designated location. A fellow member will... escort you to your destination." (lose)
